NATIONAL COAL STRIKE SHOWS NO TENDENCY TOWARD BREAK MONDAY

John L. Lewis Proposes Immediate Nationalization of Industry in Testifying Before House Labor Committee in Washington, D. C.

The national coal strike of 600,000 bituminous and anthracite miners swung into its full significance today. As Saturday and Sunday were holidays it could not be determined until today whether the coal strike order had been obeyed by all the union men and was 100 per cent effective.

President John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers of America testifying before the house labor committee in Washington, proposed immediate nationalization of the American coal industry.

The first break in the ranks of non union miners are reported from northern West Virginia where 1,500 non organized men quit work. In southern West Virginia and in central Pennsylvania, the non union mines were still in operation.

No disorders of any kind have yet been reported and the union officials have warned the men against violence.

Union officials declared that the men are presenting a solid front and will fight it out all along the present line, no matter how long it takes.

Every anthracite colliery in the three districts of Pennsylvania is idle. The first expression of fear that political agitators may attempt to make capital out of the strike came out of the anthracite fields.

Another conference of the anthracite wage scale committee, and a committee of operators was scheduled for this afternoon in New York City where the miners are still presenting data to support their demands for a 20 per cent wage increase for contract labor and one dollar a day for day labor.

Washington, April 3.—Sooner or later the government must step in, nationalize the coal mines and operate them for the benefit of the public, and it might as well be now as any time.

This was the message and the advice laid before congress today by John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, when he appeared before the house labor committee to present the miners' side of the present strike controversy.

The striking miners, Lewis said, are going to "stand pat" and present an unbroken front and he advised the committee against attempts to force a settlement through adjustment boards or commissions.

The coal industry, Lewis said, is diseased and the only remedy is nationalization.

"The mine workers," Lewis declared, "have been waiting for ever growing impatience for many years, hoping to detect some signs that the operators were awakening to a realization of their duties.

"But so far nothing has been accomplished except talk and no relief has been extended to the mine workers or to the public.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 3.—Confident that the strike of mine workers would continue "one hundred percent effective" today, attaches of headquarters of the United Mine Workers turned their eyes toward Washington, where John L. Lewis, president of the union appears today before the house labor committee to present the miners' case to congressional investigation.

While headquarters at an early hour was without advices from mining centers, as to the number of London, April 3.—To secure recognition from Great Britain soviet Russia must recognize the Russian foreign debt, open her ports to Europe and give protection to trade and pledge herself not to make war on her neighbors. These conditions were officially outlined for the first time this afternoon when Premier Lloyd George addressed the house of commons in a fiery speech demanding a vote of confidence in the British program for the Genoa economic conference.

"The sole purpose of the Genoa economic conference is to restore European prosperity from desolation," declared the premier. "The Genoa conference will not have power to revise existing treaties."

The speech was marked by its conciliatory attitude towards France.

The crowd which jammed the house of commons cheered the premier loudly as he concluded and the commonsmen prepared to vote.

London, April 3.—Although facing the most bitter attack yet launched against him in the house of commons, Premier Lloyd George was confident that he would be victorious and that his demand for a vote of confidence this afternoon would be answered in the affirmative.

During his visit to his country estate at Chequers court the premier has been engaged upon his master piece speech defending his initiative in having the Genoa conference called and explaining Great Britain's program at the meeting.

The promise of dramatic scenes in commons filled the spectators galleries.

Premier Lloyd George showed no visible signs of trepidation. This was his first appearance in commons since he made his offer to resign and he appeared to be in a most defiant mood. According to his supporters the premier had a double motive in seeking a vote of confidence—1, to go to Genoa with the undivided support of the country behind him; 2, to put an end to rumors of the tory "die hards" that he is weakening and must resign.

RAILROAD WORKERS WILL FORM POLICY CONCERNING STRIKE

Delegates Are In Conference in Chicago to Decide Question

Chicago, April 3.—The policy of union railroad men towards the miners involved in the coal strike that began at midnight Friday, is expected to be determined today. Delegates of the rail workers were to meet in conference here to discuss their attitude.

Officials of the rail unions refused to forecast, in advance of the meeting what its probable outcome would be. It was predicted that a call might be issued for a general meeting of railroad and miners unions but this could not be confirmed.

The railroad men already have pledged "moral support" to the miners. Whether this passive attitude will be transformed into one of action will depend, it was declared, on the outcome of today's meeting.

EARTHQUAKES CONTINUE

London, April 3.—Earthquake shocks still continue throughout Servia, according to a news agency dispatch from Belgrade. They have been intermittent for more than 24 hours. No report of casualties has been received.

San Francisco, April 3.—Four major witnesses remained to be called in the defense of Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle in his third trial for manslaughter, as the fourth week began today.

Milton Carlson, finger print expert was ready to go on the stand today and make denial that the "struggle prints" on the door of room 1219 of the hotel suite in which "Fatty's" labor day party was held were those of Virginia Rappe and Arbuckle, as contended by the state. Carlson, by means of photographs, was expected to stage a demonstration in which he would set up the claim that the finger prints were not genuine.

The next witnesses in importance yet to be called are Dr. F. W. Shields and Dr. Collins, defense medical experts. Arbuckle will probably be the closing witness in his own defense.

The testimony of Kate Brennan, chambermaid, who has disappeared may be read today if Judge Louderback renders a decision favorable to the defense.

Cincinnati, April 3.—Four persons were injured, one seriously, when two automobiles collided here. The injured are Milton Fulcher, 45; Charles Foote, 62; Mrs. Charles Foote, 60, all of Grand Rapids, Mich., and David O'Leary of this city. Mrs. Foote lost a diamond valued at $1,200 in the wreckage.

This photograph, taken in the "Love Garden" at Atlantic City, has been submitted as evidence in the trial of Miss Olivia Stone on trial in Brooklyn for the alleged murder of Ellis Kingead.

The picture was taken, Miss Stone testified, while she and the man she is accused of killing were on their honeymoon after she had become his common law wife. Miss Stone's home is at Mt. Olivet, Ky.

Illinois Governor Faces Court On Serious Charge

Len Small Will be Tried for Embezzlement as a Private Citizen—Executive Brands Charges as Political Scheme to Discredit Him.

Waukegan, Ill., April 3.—Quiet, little Waukegan, peeping out over Lake Michigan awakened this morning to find itself holding the attention of all of Illinois, and a large part of the nation. For the first time in the history of Illinois, a governor of the state faces trial, charged with a violation of the law, and that Governor, Len Small, will go before the bar of justice to defend his name, his honor, here, in Waukegan.

Governor Small, charged with conspiracy to embezzle state interest funds totalling $819,691.31 will appear in the court of Judge Claire C. Edwards today. He already has pleaded innocence and has branded the charges as a method of attack chosen by his political foes to eliminate him as a political leader of the state.

Both prosecution and defense have signified their intention of carrying the fight through to a finish at this session of the court. Judge Edwards has stated that he will permit no further postponement. Unless the unforeseen occurs the battle will begin with the sounding of the court's gavel this morning.

The prosecution, headed by Attorney General Edward J. Brundage, denies that the charges against Governor Small are an attempt at his political undoing. They assert their intention of trying Len Small as a citizen, not as governor of Illinois.

The probable length of the trial is a matter of conjecture. Some optimists say three weeks, allowing one week for the selection of the jury and two for the presentation of evidence, but the general belief is that the trial will extend over a whole month at least.

The immediate task of selecting a jury is expected to prove no easy one.

Norfolk, W. Va., April 3.—A puzzling mystery confronted the Norfolk police today in establishing the identity of a young and beautiful girl found dead on the beach at Ocean View on Sunday.

The girl was found on the sand, shrouded in a mantle of her own tangled golden hair. There were numerous bruises about the head and face but death, according to the coroner was due to drowning. The girl appeared to be of Scandinavian origin. She was between 18 and 22 years of age, slender and boyish and had a wealth of light hair which fell to her waistline.

CHARACTER AND WHITE SPACE IN ADS ARE NEEDED

CHARACTER in advertising is desirable. Webster says that character is the sum of qualities, or features by which a person, or thing is distinguished from others.

Consequently, in persons or things—advertisements—character is instantly recognized and invariably DOES count big in the way of sales.

And typography plays an important part in character building in so far as advertisements are concerned, yet the compositor should not be handicapped by an insufficient amount of space in which to properly display what you have to say.

White space of itself probably lends more to character in advertising than any one factor.—It WILL help you sell more goods.

IRISH MUTINEERS SEIZE BRITISH SUPPLIES OF ARMS AND AMMUNITION

Enough Equipment to Outfit Field Army of From 15,000 to 20,000 Men Taken by Rebels, it is Estimated— Situation Regarded as Critical.

London, April 3.—Irish republican army mutineers at Cork have seized 400 rifles, 700 revolvers, 39 machine guns and 500,000 rounds of ammunition, belonging to the British army, Colonial Secretary Winston Churchill announced in the house of commons this afternoon. This official statement gave the first authoritative information regarding the Cork seizures of which there had been numerous conflicting reports.

The admiralty, Mr. Churchill added, is making an inquiry and in the meantime guards have been provided to prevent further seizures.

The Irish provisional government at Dublin is being urged by the British government to take up this breach of the truce at Cork.

Irish republican army mutineers have seized sufficient arms and ammunition to equip a 20,000 army of from 15,000 to 20,000 men, it was estimated today. It is generally admitted that the situation is more critical as a result of the defiant parade of the Irish republican army rebels through the streets of Dublin on Sunday.

There were from 2,000 to 3,000 men in line, all supporters of the republic and enemies of the Irish free state.

Richard Mulcahy, minister of defense in the Irish provisional government, is expected to take steps at once to fill the places of soldiers who have joined the rebels.

Everything that can be used in active warfare, is being taken over by the mutineers.

At Mullingar, the mutineers seized the barracks and refused admission to loyal troops. All the motor cars attached to the barracks were commandeered.

If now develops that a running battle occurred while Michael Collins, minister of finance in the Irish provisional government, was on his way to Castle Bar to make his speech of Sunday appealing for Irish unity. The mutineers had a well organized plan to attempt to prevent Collins from speaking, but it failed. Roads were blocked and railway tracks were torn up. Collins travelled on a special train which reached its destination before the rails over which it had travelled were pulled up. At one point rebels opened fire upon the Collins special. Bodyguards from the loyal section of the I. R. A. who were travelling with Collins returned the fire.

While Collins was speaking in county Mayo, Eamonn Devalera, was making a campaign speech at Dundalk. He attacked the Irish free state and the recent peace agreement signed in London by representatives of north and south Ireland and the British government.

OPTIMISM FELT BY OHIO COAL MINERS CONCERNING STRIKE

Thousands Expected to Seek Other Kind of Work During Tie-Up.

Columbus, April 3.—That Ohio's 42,000 union coal miners are optimistic and that all of them will remain on strike until a new wage agreement is reached is the statement made by Leg. Hall, Columbus president of the Ohio United Mine Workers, here today.

In the various mining districts of the state today, union officials are cooperating with the various local organizations and the Red Cross in relief work among the families of the idle workers.

President Hall stated that sufficient union miners will be permitted to mine enough coal for the furnishing power to operate mine pumps and to supply cities, villages, hospitals and schools.

Ohio operators are not expected to try to operate union mines this week.

Reports available here today indicate that hundreds of Ohio miners will leave the coal fields this week in search of other kind of work. It is expected that thousands of Ohio miners, before the strike ends will have done otherwise.

Malcolm Jennings, Columbus, secretary Ohio Manufacturers Association stated that Ohio manufacturers have plenty of coal on hand.

Columbus retail dealers are advising domestic consumers to lay in their next winter's supply of coal now. They announce prices which represent declines ranging from 50 cents to $1 per ton, according to the grade, over prices prevailing here two weeks ago.

Survey Of Coal Fields Shows Strike Still On

No Change Reported in Hocking Coal Field Monday—Pennsylvania, Missouri, Illinois, West Virginia and Indiana All Affected.

Athens, O., April 3.—There is no change in the mine situation in the Hocking Coal fields. Every mine, with out a single exception is idle and only the pumpers are on duty. The essential industries of the district which do not operate with electric power have great stores of coal ahead, enough in some cases to last five or six months.

Wilesbarre, Pa., April 3.—The coal suspension got under way today and the first real test of strength showed that hard coal miners are supporting the strike order to a man. Every colliery in the three districts remained idle and not a man reported for duty, except those allowed to work by the decree of the international union officers.

Kansas City, Mo., April 3.—A check up in the various fields of the trans-Mississippi coal district revealed no change in the strike situation today. Operators and nine union officials of the Kansas fields were to meet here today to discuss the strike.

Belleville, Ill., April 3.—The coal strike continued 100 per cent effective in this district today with approximately 14,000 men out.

Wheeling, April 3.—The first break in operation of non union mines in the pan handle counties of West Virginia came today when two mines in Mar-

RUSSIAN TRADE EXPERT CONFERS WITH GERMANY

Berlin, April 3.—Leonid Krassin, chief trade expert of the Russian soviet government, arrived here today to confer with the German government regarding certain commercial proposals.

There are strong indications that the Genoa conference will be the signal for a last desperate effort on the part of anti-bolsheviks in Germany and France to overthrow the Moscow government.

The Russian delegates, however, are confident that they can successfully defend their interests.

Washington, April 3.—The period from April 16 to April 22 was officially designated as Forest, protection week and April 22 was fixed as the golden anniversary of Arbor Day, in a proclamation issued today by President Harding.

London, April 3.—Cambridge university Saturday defeated Oxford in their seventy third meeting down the historic Thames river by 3 1-2 lengths. The race was run over a four and a quarter mile course.

SENATE TO GET TARIFF MEASURE LONG DELAYED

Finishing Touches Being Applied to Bill by Committee.

IS 15 MONTHS OLD

Republican Leaders Anxious That It Shall Meet All Requirements.

Washington, April 3.—Finishing touches were being applied today to the new tariff bill by Republican members of the senate finance committee, who hope to have it ready to report to the senate Thursday.

The measure has been kicking around for almost 15 months between the house and the senate and two months debate on it in the upper chamber. It is believed that three or four months may elapse before it is whipped into final shape.

Republican leaders are anxious that it shall meet the views of both the producers of the west and the manufacturers of the east because of the far reaching effect it is expected to have on this year's congressional elections. The embargoes and prohibitive schedules written into it are to be attacked by the Democrats who are preparing to stress the fact that the U. S. is now a creditor instead of a debtor nation, as in the old Payne-Aldrich tariff days and cannot afford to shut out of its markets foreign products.

"The ability of Europe to pay us what she owes us is based largely upon the extent to which we permit her to trade with us," said Senator Simmons, of North Carolina, ranking Democratic member of the senate finance committee and its chairman during the Wilson administration.

"We hold nearly all the gold in the world. Foreign nations, with, perhaps the sole exception of Spain, haven't the money with which to purchase American products, agricultural or manufactured, South America, for instance, has only agricultural products to offer for our manufactured ones. Germany is an example of a nation which is dependent upon her industrial output for foodstuffs and raw materials. England is in the same position."

"If we set up high tariff barriers, the effect upon our trade will be disastrous and the American consumer will be the first to suffer. We only grow one half enough wool for our needs. If we shut out Australian and Argentine wool, by the proposed tariff of 33 cents a pound on the scoured product, and provide manufacturer with an equivalent compensatory duty, we shall permit pyramiding of clothing prices to such an extent as to authorize a return to war prices."

"With wages falling and prices rising, political disaster instead of business prosperity, will be the economic whirlwind sown and reaped by the Republicans."

SWEEEPING REORGANIZATION OF U. S. TREASURY DEPARTMENT IS UNDER WAY

Washington, April 3.—While the capital was kept a-titter today with rumors and reports of "scandals" and possible resignations of government employees, the administration started a sweeping reorganization of the United States treasury department, the great clearing house of the government's business.

Exactly what lay behind this decision on the part of President Harding and his advisers was not made entirely clear.

Administration spokesmen said that politics was not involved in the general shake up and that the treasury department, which embraces a score of bureaus was to be given a "house cleaning" for business reasons. The president's summary dismissal of Jas. L. Wilmoeth and 27 divisional chiefs from the bureau of engraving and printing was the first step in this shake up, they said.

Democrats, on the other hand charged that politics lay behind the whole plan. Their indignation at the action already taken and contemplated took definite form in congress, in the shape of resolutions of inquiry.

In the senate, Senator Caraway, Democrat of Arkansas, introduced a resolution asking the president "if not incompatible with the public good to explain to the senate his reasons for suddenly and without warning, toppling 28 old and tried officers of the government from the federal payroll."

C. L. KNIGHT SCORES POLITICS OF OHIO

Columbus, A. April 3.—"Here in Ohio, we have a perfect political trust that sets up candidates and through the indifference of the people to the primaries, selects only those who are perfectly 'safe,'" declared Congressman C. L. Knight, Akron, here today.

"In this way, the government has passed from the hands of the people into those of the politicians," continued Knight. "Indeed, the rule of the people is wholly theoretical."

Congressman Knight who stopped off here, enroute to Springfield where he was to address the Rotary club, is expected to announce his candidacy for the Republican nomination for governor.

IRONS OUT TROUBLE IN PORTO RICO

Washington, April 3.—Gov. E. Mon. Reilly of Porto Rico today cabled President Harding that he had ironed out all difficulties in his administration of Porto Rican affairs, and that demands for his resignation or recall have subsided.

The text of Reilly's cablegram was not made public at the White House but it was stated officially that the governor had made no move to relinquish his Porto Rican post.

SIXTY CANDIDATES INITIATED INTO K. C. AT MEETING SUNDAY

Sixty candidates, including three applicants for membership in Xenia Council, were taken into the Knights of Columbus at joint initiation exercises held by Councils of five cities at Springfield Sunday.

The three candidates from Xenia Council were Harry Esterline and Clarence Brennan of this city, and Ralph Alexander of Springfield. More than 750 Knights from Xenia and other cities in this vicinity attended the initiation exercises, in which councils from Xenia, Springfield, Urbana, Bellefontaine and London were enrolled.

The Knights and candidates attended the dedication of St. Mary's Church at ten o'clock, where solemn high mass was celebrated by the Rev. J. McGlinchey, pastor. At noon dinner was served in the basement of the church by the women of the parish, and the conferring of the degrees took place at the K. of C. home in Springfield in the afternoon. The first degree was exemplified by the degree team of Xenia Council, and Springfield Council degree team exemplified the second degree. The third degree was conferred by Past State Deputy Charles Mayne and staff.

A banquet for the initiates and members was held at six o'clock in the K. of C. banquet hall, with 500 diners present. A musical program was given following the banquet, including vocal selections by Hogan Morrissey of London, Antonia Silvestri and Frank Cavanaugh. The K. of C. Orchestra, led by Harry O'Brien gave several selections.

BURROUGHS' HOME IS PURCHASED BY FORD

Kingston, N. J., April 3.—The farm or the mountainside near Roxbury where John Burroughs was born, where he lived many years, and where last April his body was laid to rest, has been purchased by Henry Ford, long a friend and vacation comrade of the naturalist and author.

On Monday, the first anniversary of the burial of Burroughs, the farm will be dedicated to his memory.

Mr. Ford it was learned Sunday, bought the place March 10 from Julian Burroughs, to whom it was bequeathed and established a fund for its preservation as a memorial.

Styles BY LENORE

Not only for sports but for general wear with the irresistibly attractive overblouses that continue to remain so fashionable, does the separate skirt figure as an important item in the new mode. And while in design the simpler, more conservative lines are considered the smarter, there is ample expression in the colorful fabrics that are favored. At least for sports.

There are, for example, the lovely English homespun and hether spuns and basket weaves. And not all English, either for the good taste and excellence of colors in our American weaves are proving successful competitors of the imported materials. For resort wear, too, there are the novel skirts of angora shawls, in bright colors, with a darker tone of the same shade woven into the border, and forming a fringed hem. This material is imported from Switzerland. In silk skirts, all white and white with black are popular as usual. The individual skirt by the young tennis player above is one of those that is equally suitable for white flannel, or a darker material for the office or school wear with a smock. White silk knitted tricot is used for the blouse so conveniently made with a wide belt that may be adjusted to the normal waistline or below.

Signs Of Business Revival Are Found In Middle West

Kansas City, Mo., April 3.—Slowly but surely business is coming back. The signs of the awakening from the lethargy of post-war depression are already observed.

Such are the declarations of chief executives of four of the great railroads of the West, who recently attended the annual meeting of the directors of the Kansas City Terminal Railroad Company.

With their fingers constantly feeling the pulse of the great steel arteries of the country these officials assert that the heart-beat of industrial activity is quickening.

Their opinions follow:

J. M. KURN,
President of the Saint Louis and San Francisco Railroad

"For some time business has been hesitating—glancing this way and that in hopes of finding something which would lift it out of its throes of perplexity. Business lived in constant fear of the industrial and financial aftermath of the World War. However, the grit and determination of the calm business man are beginning to show good effect."

C. G. BURNHAM,
Vice-President of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad

"Business is fast approaching a period of normalcy. The Burlington is preparing to spend $30,000,000 on equipment and road betterment. This could not be spent if business did not show an increase. The depths of depression have been reached, and with the increase in price of grain and stock there has been a corresponding increase in railroad business."

S. M. FELTON,
President of the Chicago, Great Western Railroad

"The labor situation throughout the nation is rapidly clearing. Men want to work today, and they are willing to do a good day's work for a good day's pay. The slump in the passenger business of the railroads can be attributed to the fact that so many farmers now own automobiles. However, despite this slump in passenger business, freight traffic is increasing rapidly."

C. R. GRAY,
President of the Missouri Pacific Railroad

"The railroads of the West are mostly concerned with farm conditions. I believe the farmer is coming back."

FIRE DESTROYS PLANT ON EVE OF RESUMPTION

Monroe, Mich., April 3.—The Wells Fibre Container Corporation's factory here was destroyed by fire Sunday afternoon with a loss of $1,000,000.

An hour after the fire started the plant was in ruins and the walls collapsed. Firemen were hampered by dense clouds of smoke and low-water pressure.

The Wells plant was to have opened Monday with a force of 300 men, virtually the number that has been employed while the plant has been running half time.

Fire originated in a stock room where an immense store of paraffin-coated containers fed the flames.

BEAUTY CHATS

SWEET SCENTED POWDERS

To be good a powder must be cooling and must protect the skin against the dust and impurities of the atmosphere without obstructing the normal action of the glands. Many powders contain lead arsenic and bismuth. The continued use of these will ultimately ruin the structure of the skin. The presence of sugar of lead can be detected by trying it with ammonia which will turn it black.

A good powder is made from vegetable ingredients. Most powders are made of rice or potato starch, often with powdered orris root. A most delightful sweet scented face powder can be made at home during the flower season in the following way.

Gather any fragrant blossoms, cut off the stems and bury them in very finely powdered starch and orris root in the proportion of three parts starch to one part orris root. Rose petals will be very satisfactory to use as perfume, and violets, which should be in abundance now, are just as delightful. The flowers should be renewed every 24 hours for a week by which time the powder will be most delightfully perfumed.

Here is a formula for another healing antiseptic bath powder:

Rice powder 6 ounces
Rice starch 6 ounces
Carbonate of magnesia 3 ounces
Boric acid pulverised 1-2 ounces
Powdered orris 1 ounce

TURN HAIR DARK WITH SAGE TEA

If Mixed with Sulphur It Darkens so Naturally Nobody can Tell.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive. This ready-to-use preparation is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire a more youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

FATHER SEES FOUR OF FAMILY DIE IN FIRE

Cumberland, Md., April 3.—Aroused by the barking of his watchdog, followed by the shrill cry of his eleven-year-old daughter, "Oh daddy, save us," Albert Logsdon, a farmer of Bald Knob Mountain, three miles north of Mt. Savage, early Sunday leaped from his bed and burst into the room adjoining to find four members of his family at the mercy of flames that were sweeping the room.

They were his wife, Nora Price Logsdon, 48 years old; a daughter, Agnes, 17, and two sons, John, 8 and Raymond 6. All burned to death.

The Logsdon home was built of logs 180 years ago. The fire, which is thought to have originated in an overheated stove, was so fierce that the family glassware was melted into one mass.

DECISION OF LOWER COURT IS UPHELD IN SPRINGS CASE

The first decision handed down by the Greene County Court of Appeals on thence cases heard here the first part of last week sustained the decision of the lower court.

The case is that of John L. Lantz against Andrew Thompson and others in which the plaintiff sought to enjoin the defendant from interfering with the flow of the water from two springs, which have always flowed in a natural stream from the defendant's land across the plaintiff's land, enabling the plaintiff to use the water for stock and other purposes.

The defendant has now constructed two tile ditches which drain the springs the water from one being carried to the plaintiff's premises where the water is used by him while the water from the other spring is carried directly to the road, and therefore cannot be used by the plaintiff. The plaintiff claims that in extremely dry weather the one spring may not be sufficient and he insisted in his petition that he has the right to water from both springs.

Common Pleas court decided that the plaintiff has the right to the water from one spring and that the volume of water carried from one spring meets all practical requirements of the plaintiff and that in the interests of agriculture the defendant was within his rights in diverting the flow of the other water, in order to drain certain marshy land. The Appellate Court in upholding the decision also declares that if the plaintiff insists upon the use of the water from both springs that he should bear the expense of furnishing the tile and constructing and covering a ditch leading from his premises to the tile drain on the defendant's premises which carries the water from the second spring to the highway. This work should be done within one year and at a time as will least interfere with the growing crops, the court decreed. The court further found that each party to the action should pay one half of the costs. Attorneys Alfred P. Mercer and M. A. Broadstone represents the plaintiff and Marcus Shoup was counsel for the defendant in the action.

DRAMATIC SCENE ENACTED IN COURT DURING STONE TRIAL

New York, April 3.—There was a dramatic scene today at the trial of Miss Olivia M. P. Stone, former Cincinnati, Ohio, hospital nurse, for the murder of Ellis G. Kinkead, former corporation counsel of Cincinnati when the prisoner broke into a fit of loud sobbing and nearly collapsed in the witness chair.

The first question asked Miss Stone when she took the stand for recross examination was whether she knew United States District Attorney Clark of Cincinnati.

The Clark referred to was James R. Clark to whom Miss Stone is alleged to have appealed regarding the possibility of having Kinkead prosecuted under the Mann White Slave act. Miss Stone's appeal, according to the prosecution, was made long after the common law marriage contract which she claimed to have entered into with Kinkead in Atlantic City in 1918.

The resolution called upon the secretary of war and Secretary of the navy to report to congress on the advisability of establishing the separate school for aviation officers.

Walsh warned against leaving the nation's air forces defenseless while other nations are developing their air protection to the utmost.

AT THIS TIME New Easter Apparel DEMANDS ATTENTION

ELEANOR GRACE SAYS

How-do-you-do Folks?

I have just come to Jobe's store and will be here every day from now on. I will go through the different departments and each day want to have an informal chat with you about the things I learn in regard to the new styles and the things you can find right here in the store.

I believe in this store. I believe in the honor and dependability of the firm, in the style and quality of the merchandise, and in the ability of this store to meet every need of the women of this community. Through this column I hope to give you a better idea of the service, this store can render, and to get you better acquainted with it in all departments. I hope to meet you here every day for a heart to heart chat about the things we women are interested in.

Now with the formality of introduction over I want to ask if you aren't just dying to know whether or not they are really going to wear 'em longer, of course I mean the skirts. I wouldn't dare to prophesy but this is what a really swell dress maker told me. Suit skirts are still short and narrow with an average of 12 inches from the floor, evening dresses have foundations the same length but camouflage long lines by draperies that reach the floor. Afternoon gowns remain about the same.

New York styles show longer skirts, but women outside the metropolis are reluctant to lengthen theirs.

If you are going to buy material for a dress, nine chances in ten you'll ask for Canton crepe. Its undoubtedly the leading fabric of the season. Of course taffeta is popular as ever. Its always good for all occasions. This new crepe knit that looks like silk Turkish toweling makes perfectly stunning gowns. Its brand new. Have dozens of things to talk about but won't try to tell it all today. Will be here tomorrow. So glad to meet you.

ELEANOR GRACE.

WITH only eleven shopping days until Easter the spring outfit is of immediate importance. Our spring stock was bought from the best New York houses. BECAUSE of lower overhead expenses we can offer merchandise, identical in style and quality with that offered in larger stores in nearby cities, at prices decidedly lower than those of the city store. We challenge comparison. We can supply everything for the spring costume, in the newest and most distinctive styles, at prices that mean a saving.

FORTY-FIVE THOUSAND OF THOSE WHO MADE THE SUPREME SACRIFICE HAVE BEEN BROUGHT OVER.

The last battalion of soldier dead to be brought home from the fields of France—1,060 in all—were saluted by the guns of Forts Hamilton and Wadsworth when the army transport Cambrai passed through the Narrows, Wednesday.

Forty-five thousand of those who made the supreme sacrifice overseas in the service of the United States have now been brought back to their homeland, and only about 100 more bodies await shipment from England and France. All of the others who fell in battle or died behind the lines will continue to rest in foreign soil that being the wish of their relatives.

Commemoration ceremonies for those who died in uniform were conducted Sunday in Brooklyn, where the Cambrai docked. General Pershing led a parade organized by organizations of war veterans, the route of march being from Fort Hamilton Parkway to the Cambrai's pier.

In the procession were high naval and military officers, groups of Senators and Representatives and other leaders in civil life.

Passengers aboard the Cambrai included fifty-seven wives of enlisted men—French, Belgian, Swiss and German girls, with their husbands. The German wives brought fourteen babies along.

"DAY BY DAY IN EVERY RESPECT I BECOME BETTER AND BETTER."

Auto-suggestion as practiced by Emile Coue, the simple and unassuming psychologist from Nancy has taken London by storm and the Frenchman, who is there for five lectures, is besieged day and night by people with all sorts of ailments who, through confidence or curiosity, are trying to obtain an interview. One day he turned away from his apartment more than 800 people who presented themselves in all stages of diseases, and at his lecture in the spacious Wigmore Hall there were crowds in the street that failed to gain admission.

Some of the cures effected by Coue seem almost like miracles, but he himself deprecates the use of the word miracle, insisting that by proper appeal to the imagination many ailments that really exist and a great many more that Coue maintains exist only in patients' minds can actually be cured.

People who have been fortunate enough to see him during his visit in London have been repeatedly admonished to say over and over to themselves: "Day by day in every respect I become better and better." Some of his friends, however, are trying to make him change the expression to "Day by day in every way I become better and better," arguing that the more perfect rhythm in the latter clause would have great effect on the imagination to which Coue appeals.

But Coue has not escaped severe criticism in England, and chief among his detractors are "Gloomy Dean Inge," of Saint Paul who brings up the ancient medical theory that functional diseases can be benefited by suggestion, but that organic troubles cannot, and publicly argues that no one will get better and better by simply relaxing and saying so.

Incidentally Inge accepts this opportunity to take another rap at America in this paragraph:

"This philosophy of life is especially popular in America. Americans make formulas by bluffing each other so they have begun to believe in bluffing themselves and are ready even for a game of poker with Dame Nature. Their country accordingly is the happy hunting ground for every kind of quack."

PUBLIC OPINION BY ECHO PROCESS.

Congressman Frank Greene, of Vermont, makes this interesting observation concerning foolish economy and the manufacture of public opinion:

"I do not think anybody who is cognizant with public affairs in these days would seriously attempt to deny the necessity for great and oftentimes radical economies in the administration of our various bureaus and departments of government, and in the control of the activities of the many agencies and institutions of the government. It is not debatable. But I think the American people generally, in whose name we profess occasionally to appeal for economy, are not themselves individually and collectively in their community and home life such radical economists as sometimes their distinguished representatives undertake to say they are. The American people do not want their money misspent, but they do not begrudge the money that is necessary to be spent in order to have good government and security in their social order. Sometimes I am inclined to think, with all good nature, that some gentlemen in public life who preach economy vociferously and say they are speaking in the name of the people are much in the attitude of a man standing at the mouth of the Mammoth Cave hallowing his speech into it, and then, when the echo of his own words comes rumbling back, calling it 'public opinion.'"

QUEER PLACES OF HIDING BOOZE.

In the quest for safe hiding places for contraband booze the limit has been reached. In one state recently, prohibition officers raiding a suspected home found the liquor concealed under the coverlets in a baby's cradle. And this is not the utmost limit. In another state the officers found the liquor in a "baby's little white coffin, covered with a tiny shroud."

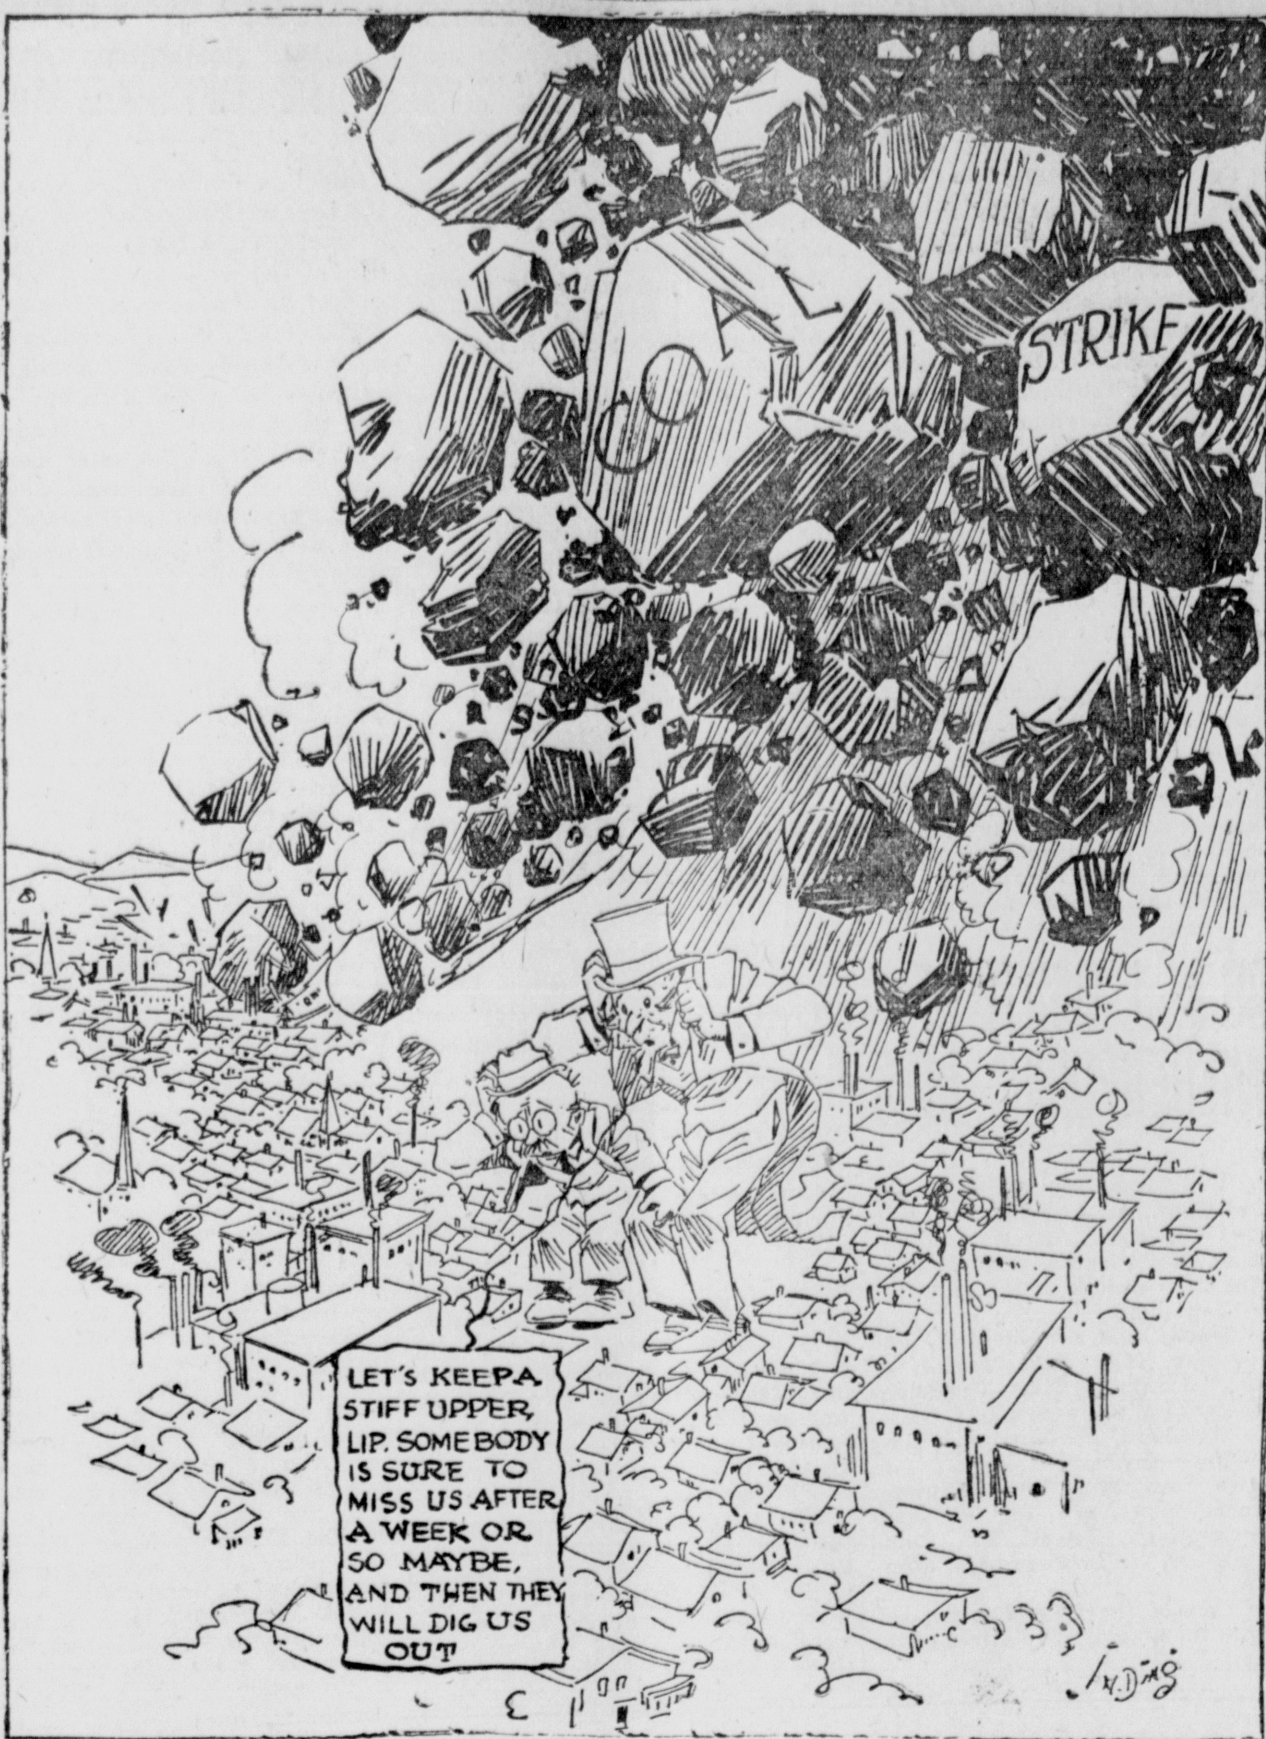

Comment falls in the contemplation of such sacrilege. With parents capable of thus desecrating the holiest human associations it would probably be useless, and with normal fathers and mothers surely it would be superfluous. Extremes, however, are always illuminating as showing a tendency. Sacrilege and desecration are of many kinds and degrees, and who could compute all the deterioration of social and family standards that accompanies the present way of illicit whiskey traffic?

It may be added that, if the heredity experts are right, having alcoholic liquor in the cradle is possibly preferable to having a baby there with an alcoholic inheritance. Parents who go so far as the cases mentioned seem to indicate not only that they do not deserve any children, but perhaps ought not to have any for the sake of the children themselves.

There are in this country every year 6,000,000,000 more communications by telephone than by letter, and 350,000,000 more telephone messages than telegrams.

Regular shipments are to be made of fresh peaches, melons, grapes, cherries, plums, apricots and asparagus from Chile to New York from October 15 to May 15 of each year.

Today's Talk

by George Matthew Adams

HE WHO WAITS

One of the finest and most widely known poems ever created is the "Elegy Written in a Country Churchyard" by Thomas Gray.

And yet Gray thought so little of its merit he demanded that it first be published anonymously.

It took eight years to write and polish this poem so that the author was willing to leave his hands.

On the night of September 13, 1759, the night before the battle of the Plains of Abraham, Wolfe was descending the St. Lawrence with a part of his troops. It was an unusually calm night. There was almost complete silence among the boats as they floated on their way. It is said that Wolfe repeated the stanzas from this great poem to those about him and added afterwards: "Now, gentlemen, I would rather be the author of that poem than take Quebec."

Lincoln thought little of his brief speech at Gettysburg. And after its delivery he was the first to congratulate the scholarly Everett for his speech, forgetting his own.

But all the pent-up heart fervor and all the days and nights of years of patient study were crystallized in this one simple beautiful immortal speech.

He who waits may have to travel an exceedingly lonely path, and feel quite deserted at times, but there is a returning satisfaction to every man who is conscious that he is building something that is long going to outlast his life efforts.

I watched a group of boys in a swimming contest. There was one boy who came in last in every event. But he came up smiling in first because he has learned how to wait.

Every time we are defeated in our purposes or desires we learn something that is sure to help us win later on.

Strength brews in waiting.

INDIFFERENCE.

The groundhog doesn't seem to care how often his predictions fail; he rests in comfort in his lair, and lets the hide go with the tail. On Groundhog Day the people cry, "The critter's shadow doesn't show! We may expect an azure sky, an end to winter and its snow." And so they welcome Gentle Spring before that season is on deck, and while they gambol, dance and sing, a blizzard swats them in the neck. The groundhog, from its lonely cave, beholds the tempest rear and scoot, and listens to the wild winds rave, and doesn't seem to care a hoot. And much I envy him his sense; I cannot shoo bad dreams away; I suffer agonies intense, whenever I've pulled a bonehead play. I'm tortured through the weary night by recollections of a time when I departed from the right and sprung a carnival of crime. I traded horses now and then when in the glowing flush of youth, and roundly soaked a lot of men who trusted that I told the truth. I've done a lot of graceless things, and not one sin can I forget; and in my consciousness there rings a voice that says, "You'll pay up yet!" For me there is no soothing balm, no comfort for my jaded soul; so I admire the groundhog's calm, as he sits gazing from his hole.

Weekly Financial Review

Definite announcement of the plans formulated by the Reparations Commission for the collection of German obligations has been the outstanding feature of international finance during the past week. The plan now proposed would call for additional taxes amounting to 60,000,000,000 marks and for a prohibition upon the export of capital from Germany, as well as for the levy of very drastic taxation. The German Chancellor has declared the inability of the country to meet these requirements, and the announcement of them has been followed by a sharp decline in the quotation of the mark to new low levels. At the same time, publication of plans to stop the issue of uncovered paper money, to be presented at the Genoa Conference, have tended to improve the financial outlook upon the European situation.

HOME BUSINESS GAINING

Meanwhile, and in spite of a further falling off in exports indicated by detailed February figures, which cut our balance of trade quite seriously in certain important lines, domestic production has been steadily gaining. Reports showing a 70 per cent degree of activity at the plants of the United States Steel Corporation and a 60 per cent activity in the plants of the independents is only one element in the encouraging outlook for the business of the coming season. Agricultural reports, taken in the aggregate, are most uniformly favorable. There is a better demand for nearly all of the staple materials of manufacture and the output of automobiles, as unofficially reported from week to week, is on the increase. About the only unfavorable element in the present business situation is furnished by the strikes in the New England textile district. The proposed coal strike, if made effective on the national scale which is now being attempted, may prove something of a deterrent to business, but the financial community has fairly well made up its mind that such a strike cannot succeed and that it is probably not likely to be very long continued. There can be no doubt that trade expansion is now well under way and that many plants which have been shut down will soon be working full time again. This will result in larger industrial earnings; and thus the railroads will have greater loadings which, with reduced operating costs, will produce better net results.

GROWTH OF RAILWAY EARNINGS

The figures for February railway earnings of thirty-nine Eastern roads now available, show an advance in operating revenues of some 3.9 per cent over a year ago, taking the group as whole. In some cases, the gain is very striking, notably in the case of Pennsylvania, New York Central, Baltimore & Ohio and others. Some carriers have succeeded in turning an actual deficit into a substantial net revenue, partly in consequence of real economies in operation and partly owing to larger freight movements. Car loadings continue to increase at interior centers and in spite of the unsatisfactory export conditions in manufactures, the movement of staples to export points for foreign shipment has continued good. These generally more favorable factors have been aided by the successful completion of refinancing operations in several of the better known roads, such as Erie and New Haven, while borrowing conditions in other directions have improved. The demand for the rails and for the better grade of railroad bonds has greatly broadened within the past few weeks, an indication that they are regaining the investment position which some had believed them to have lost.

MONEY MARKET STABILIZED

Forecasts of a coming reduction in Federal Reserve discount rates in New York have failed to materialize notwithstanding cuts made at the interior Federal Reserve banks.

in the effort to standardize their rates with those of other members of the system. Cheaper money abroad has tended to help better values for foreign exchange, and to that extent has also contributed to the stabilization of conditions in this country. The most serious menace to the money situation is found in the continued doubt about the status of the bonus legislation. This, although temporarily quiescent in the Senate Finance Committee, is being urged by members of Upper Chamber who regard it as a political proposition essential from the party standpoint. The opposition to it throughout the country has not lessened and the financial community will continue to feel discomfort until it is definitely disposed of in some way. Meanwhile the pendency of other important financial measures such as the Subsidy and Tariff bills the latter shortly to be reported to the Senate, is undoubtedly an important influence.

MARKET REVIEW

AND OUTLOOK

During the early part of the week traders were for the most part working on the short side, although they were indisposed to take any very great chances in the way of large commitments. The wisdom of this position was demonstrated a little later when the market recovered earlier losses, thus again proving that it is essentially in a very strong position. Owners of shares show no inclination to part with them and many people who have been holding aloof are now evincing more courage in buying. Quiet but inherent strength is thus the keynote. It has been demonstrated on many occasions during the last several weeks that the market can take care of itself, and that when owners of shares show a willingness to sell there are plenty of buyers to take their places.

If trade prospects are verified—and there does not seem to be any doubt of this—the great majority of stocks are destined to sell higher. At any rate, this is the view generally entertained by both the large and small man hence the paucity of stock offered for sale.

STAGE BOY THURSDAY

Dayton, April 3.—Sam Langford, the Boston Tar Baby and well known colored heavyweight has signed articles to meet "Tut" Jackson, the Washington C. H. mauler in a 12 round decision contest before the Miami Athletic Club at Triangle Park, Thursday night April 6. "Tut" has been coming along at an amazingly rapid pace since he entered the boxing game, having a record of 35 kayos to his credit and expects to add Sam to his long list of victims. Sam, while no longer a youngster is still able to knock them off by applying the old kayo wallop as every few days we hear of him making short work of some aspiring youngster in the game and old heads as well and "Tut" will be up against the stiffest proposition in his career when he faces Sam inside the ropes. The Miami Athletic Club has not as yet completed the card for next Thursday night but expects to have all the details arranged within the next few days.

BRIDGE COLLAPSES AND FALLS INTO CREEK WATERS

Washington, C. H., April 3.—As a result of the Sugar Creek bridge on the Leesburg pike collapsing when struck by a large sycamore tree, last week, the bridge is a hopeless mass of twisted iron and it will be necessary to discard it entirely and erect a modern steel bridge which will carry modern day loads.

The "red tape" which usually requires many weeks, must necessarily be unwound before work on replacing the bridge can be started, and it will probably be some time in the late spring or early summer before the new bridge is ready.

The destruction of the bridge was caused by a large sycamore tree on the McCoy land about 40 feet from the southern end of the bridge. This tree has withstood many hard northern and west winds, but Thursday afternoon there was a strong southern wind which toppled the tree over and probably one third of the tree struck the bridge near the southern end. The tree was badly decayed at the root.

To correct the general opinion that the removal of the Lake Division Headquarters of the Red Cross from Cleveland to Washington signified that the organization had disbanded, Thomas Reed, field representative of this Ohio district who was in Xenia Friday, stated that the move would not affect the work of the Red Cross personnel and only meant a removal from one city to another.

DAILY RADIO DEPARTMENT

OF THE GAZETTE AND THE REPUBLICAN

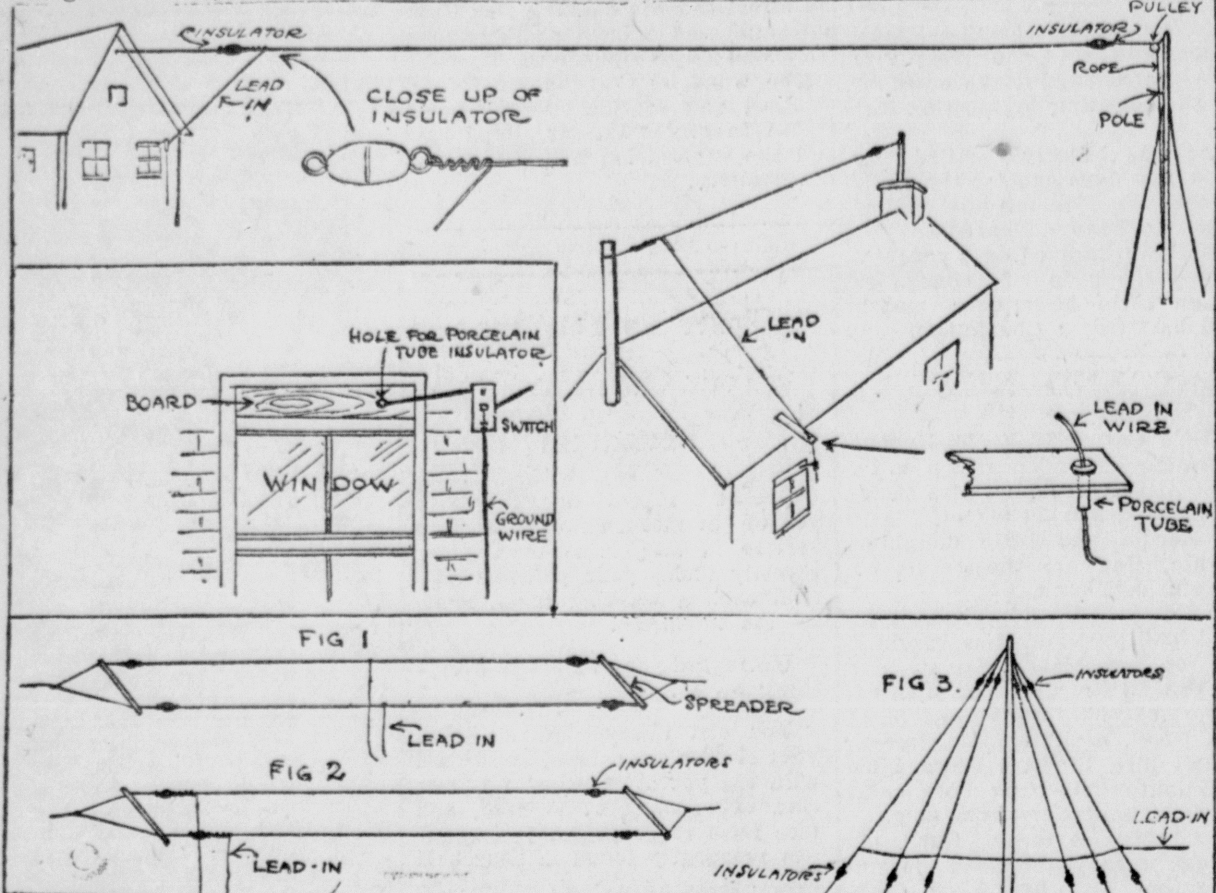

Materials Needed For Aerial or Antenna.

By WILLIAM G. H. FINCH,
Associate Member Institute Radio
Engineers.

New York, April 3.—Now we come to one of the most important items that enter into the success of any radio station—the aerial, or antenna (means for absorbing or radiating electric magnetic waves, as used in a

One hundred and fifty feet, or more, of No. 12 or 14 B. and S. gauge bare copper wire.
Two to four insulators, depending upon the conditions that must be met.
One porcelain tube.
How To Make Aerial.
The drawings are self-explanatory.

Fourth. If due to conditions you must cut your wire, be sure that when you make the connection it is soldered.
Fifth. If a support can only be found for one end the wire can be run from the house to a short pole twenty-five or thirty feet high near by. On apartment house roofs, chimradio telegraph or telephone.)

As mentioned in one of the previous articles, an aerial is a conductor supported in the air and insulated from all surrounding objects. There are many types of aerials, such as the flat-top "T" type, Fig. 1; inverted "L" type, Fig. 2; umbrella type, Fig. 3. However most of these types are made up of a plurality of wires (four or six wires or even more). These types of aerials are used mostly for transmitting purposes; but for receiving purposes only a single wire, suspended in the air and insulated from all surrounding objects, will serve our purpose well. To obtain the best results with this set it would be advisable, where it is possible, to have an aerial from 100 to 150 feet in length and thirty feet high at both ends.

The necessary materials are:
First: Always bear in mind that the effectiveness of your aerial and the success that you will derive from your set depend mostly upon how effectively you have insulated your aerial. Spare no pains to do this job right.
Second. Avoid kinks, turns, twists in your aerial and lead-in wire.
Third. The aerial or antenna wire can be put through the hole at one end of the insulator and the staywire through the other. A lead-in wire can be fastened to any part of the aerial or antenna, or simply brought off as an extension of the main wire. Where the wire runs around a corner of the building, or under similar circumstances, an insulator can be fastened by means of a large screw to a wooden supporting stick. Then the lead can be put through or fastened to the hole at the extended end of the insulator.

WOULD COST STATE SEVEN MILLIONS TO TRY ALL CASES

Charlestown, W. Va.—If everyone of the 500 or more men indicted as a result of the miners' so-called "rebellion" last August were brought to trial it would cost the State of West Virginia $7,000,000 and the trial would last 110 years, according to H. W. Houston, chief counsel for the United Mine Workers. Trial of these many men is scheduled to begin at Charles Town, Jefferson County, April 24.

"Obviously the State will never attempt to try all of these cases," Houston said. "Hundreds of the 500 or more, indictments will be nolle prossed. In my opinion, not more than six United Mine Workers officials will be tried as a result of the so called insurrection."

Theoretically, if the State intends to try all the cases, it will be the highest legal action in American history. But the task of trying so many men is impossible, according to Isaac Scott, acting secretary of District 17 United Mine Workers. Scott declares it is the intention to subpoena 10,000 witnesses who are widely scattered, and it would be impossible to assemble them all on the same day.

TREASON ALSO CHARGED
Quite a number of the men under indictment face charges of treason against the State. Conviction may be followed by long prison sentences, life imprisonment, or even the death penalty, if the Court sees fit to impose it.

During the fighting at the height of the invasion a number of men lost their lives, Attorney Houston, for the United Mine Workers, declares that in cases where United Mine Workers members or officials are accused of treason, conspiracy and complicity in the deaths, the defense will show the union had nothing to do with the alleged rebellion.

HARVEY C. SMITH ENTERS RACE FOR GOVERNOR'S CHAIR

Columbus, April 3.—An announcement that has been anticipated for weeks was forthcoming late Saturday when Secretary of State Harvey C. Smith officially declared himself in the contest for the Republican nomination for governor.

Governor Harry L. Davis definitely withdrew from the race two weeks ago, and it was expected that several gubernatorial possibilities would be heard from immediately thereafter. But a fortnight has passed before the first of these has officially entered the lists. Early announcement is expected from Col. Carmel A. Thompson and several other aspirants for the nomination.

Judge Smith is completing his second term as secretary of state, having been re-elected in 1920 by a plurality of 385,091, the largest vote ever given a candidate for state office. Prior to entering the official state service he served three terms as probate judge of Muskingum county, his plurality in 1921 topping all those previously given a candidate for office in that county.

MULES HAPPY, ANYWAY

Martins Ferry, April 3.—The coal strike brings happiness to several hundred mules in the Eastern Ohio coal fields. One local resident has taken the contract to pasture 600 mules for coal companies during the shutdown. He has leased two farms for the purpose. The mules are used in the older mines to haul cars of coal from rooms where filed, to the motor haulage ways.

G. Forbes, Binghamton, N. Y. wants to know whether it would be proper to use the same size wire as the aerial for grounding his lightning switch; also wants to know where he can buy galena and silicon for his detector.

Dyspepsia Has Also Disappeared Since Taking Tanlac And He Feels Twenty Years Younger Declares Youngstown Citizen.

"When I started taking Tanlac I was run down and weighed only one hundred and forty pounds. I now balance the scales at exactly one hundred and fifty-six pounds and feel twenty years younger," said G. W. Nichols, 522 Bennington Ave., Youngstown, Ohio.

"My stomach and kidneys had been bothering me for at least six years. I had no appetite and was losing weight and strength right along. My back and shoulders hurt me a good deal, too, and I had rheumatism in my arms and legs so bad I could hardly drag myself along at times."

"I thought old age was getting the best of me, but I know this was a mistake. All my troubles I am convinced came from my stomach because now that Tanlac has made it as sound as a dollar I am like a new man in every way. Rheumatism has left me, my kidneys are in good order and I am able to eat, sleep and work better than in years."

Tanlac is sold in Xenia by Sayre & Hemphill and all other good druggists.

HENDRIK W. VAN LOON OF ANTIOCH LEAVES FOR HOLLAND SUNDAY

Hendrick Willem Van Loon, professor of social science and history at Antioch College, left Sunday for Holland where he was called in the matter of the settlement of the estate of his father, who died there recently.

Professor Van Loon's departure was sudden, as he had not previously announced his plans for going to Europe. He had resigned his position on the Antioch faculty to take effect at the end of the present school year, in order to take a position on the editorial staff of the Baltimore Sun, next fall, but had not obtained a leave of absence for his present trip to Holland, his sudden announcement coming as a surprise to members of the faculty.

When Professor Van Loon, left for Holland, his wife and son, left Yellow Springs for Albuquerque, N. M., where they will spend the time until his return from Europe. The sudden departure of Van Loon deprived the College of one of its most interesting characters. Professor Van Loon was born in Holland but educated in this country, receiving his A. B. degree at Cornell, later attended the University of Munich, where he received his Ph. D. He was formerly Lecturer of Modern European History at Cornell and during the war was an Associated Press correspondent. He is the author of "The Fall of the Dutch Republic" and other historical works, but has probably earned more comment from his more recent work, "The History of Mankind," in which he depicts the development of the human race in a manner so interesting and instructive, that the book has been among the season's best sellers in some sections.

Before coming to Antioch, Professor Van Loon and his wife conducted one of the quaint little tea rooms with Bohemian atmosphere in New York's Greenwich Village. According to the unwritten law of the village, Mrs. Van Loon went by the name of Jimmy Criswell Van Loon. At the time of the proposed investigation of conditions in the Village, when Mayor Hylan suggested a cleaning up, residents of that section of the city proposed secession from New York and to set up a separate government with Van Loon as Emperor, to be known as Hendrick I and Jimmy Criswell Van Loon as his queen.

Gilbert Taylor, Norwalk, serving his second term from Huron county. The other announced candidates are Edward W. Hughes, Columbus, parliamentarian in the house of representatives, and Lieut. Governor Clarence J. Brown, Blanchester.

AVIATORS ON SECOND LEG OF THEIR TRIP

London, April 3.—Word was anxiously awaited here today of the safe arrival at St. Vincent, Cape Verde Islands, of the Portuguese aviators, Lieutenants Sacadura and Coutinho, who are engaged in a 4,000 mile transatlantic flight from Lisbon to Brazil. The aviators left Las Palmas, Canary Islands, on Sunday on the second leg of the flight. The distance of the second flight was about 850 miles. Sacadura and Coutinho sent word that they expected to remain at St. Vincent several days, awaiting a bright moonlight night, before beginning the third leg to Fernando Noronha.

TO DEFEND TITLE

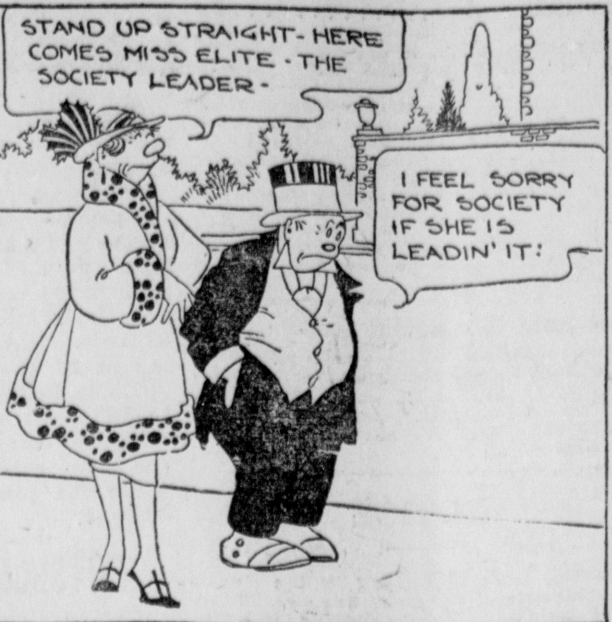

Pinehurst, N. C., April 3.—B. P. Merriman, of Waterbury, Conn., faces a trying ordeal today when he undertakes to defend his title of north and south amateur golf champion against a field of more than two hundred players, including many who have qualified in the national championship. The first eighteen holes of the 36 hole qualifying round was scheduled for today and the second for tomorrow with the 16 low scorers to continue match play Wednesday. W. C. Fowkes, of Oakmont, former national amateur champion; H. Kawasaki, amateur champion of Japan; John G. Anderson, Siwanoy and A. L. Walker, Jr., Richmond county, are among the favorites.

Today, advices received there from Helsinki. General Denny, the famous Russian cavalry leader, has been ordered to Kaban to put down the rebellion.

BRINGING UP FATHER

NEW JASPER HOPES TO CLEAN UP SCHOOL PROBLEM BY SPECIAL ELECTION WHICH WILL BE HELD APRIL 20 TO DECIDE ISSUE

New Jasper Township hopes to clear up its entangling school problem, or at least reach a decision of the voters on what procedure the board of education of the township school district should follow out, at a special election to be held April 20.

Two separate and distinct propositions will be presented to the voters of the district at the special election: one to issue $85,000 worth of bonds for the purpose of erecting a legal high school and centralized elementary grade school at or near New Jasper and the second to issue $60,000 worth of bonds to erect a high school only and leave the grade schools as they are. A vote against both of these proposed measures will mean that the people choose to leave the present condition continue, that of sending high school pupils to high schools in Silvercreek, Caesarscreek and Xenia township school districts, and paying the transportation.

The fact that the new attendance law that requires children to take at least two years in high school with the subsequent increase in the number of students, the fact that the number of students, the fact that the school district has no high school, and the fact that the transportation law requires the board of education to transport these pupils to high schools outside of that school district, makes action on the school question imperative at this time, it is said.

The transportation law requires the board of education to provide transportation for these students, to the schools they choose to attend, and at present pupils are attending Jamestown, Caesarscreek and Xenia Central High Schools. It is estimated that at least 40 students will have to be taken care of in this manner next year.

The special election to be held is the result of a mass meeting of people interested in the schools held in New Jasper recently. At that time it was decided to submit the separate propositions to the people and let the action on the school question will be expressed by the ballot. It is explained that it is not necessary to vote for either of the propositions submitted, but the voters may cast his or her ballot against both, and in event both propositions are defeated, the present system of transporting the pupils to high schools out of the district will continue. In that event however, it is explained, the school district will be piled under indebtedness, as a special school levy to provide for transportation cannot be voted upon until next November and it would be February, 1923, before the money was available, the transportation in the meantime, piling up the indebtedness.

At the same time some people who live on the outskirts of the present New Jasper Township school district, are considering the plan of petitioning for transfer from that school district to either the Xenia, Silvercreek or Caesarscreek Tps. districts, which ever one is nearer, in order to avoid the burden of paying for a new centralized school or high school and also in order to avoid the levy impending if the transportation scheme is carried out. It is their plan to have themselves transferred from the district in order to take care of the school problem without the burden of extra taxation. If these people follow out such a plan, it will reduce the number of people in the school district, and place a heavier burden upon the shoulders of those who must remain in the district through their geographical situation, and who must continue to keep up the burden of either transportation or taxation for new schools.

The two propositions to be submitted at the special election, neither of which it is compulsory to vote for, are contained in five proposals as follows:

- 1 Centralization of the schools of New Jasper Township School District, Greene County, Ohio.
- 2 The proposition of erecting a legal high school and centralized elementary grade school, and purchasing a site for said school building.
- 3 The proposition of erecting a legal high school and purchasing a site for said school building.
- 4 That in the event the proposition No. 2 is voted upon affirmatively by the voters of New Jasper Township School District, that bonds in the sum of $85,000 for the purpose set forth in proposition No. 2 be issued.
- 5 That in the event that proposition No. 3 is voted upon affirmatively by the voters of New Jasper Township School District, that bonds in the sum of $60,000 for the purposes set forth in proposition No. 3 be issued.

MULES HAPPY, ANYWAY

Martins Ferry, April 3.—The coal strike brings happiness to several hundred mules in the Eastern Ohio coal fields. One local resident has taken the contract to pasture 600 mules for coal companies during the shutdown. He has leased two farms for the purpose. The mules are used in the older mines to haul cars of coal from rooms where filled, to the motor haulage ways.

FOUR DANCING FEET

BY JANE PHELPS

TOM IS STILL INTERESTED CHAPTER 8.

Gertie and Lilly were dancing. The place was crowded, and filled with smoke. Cheaply, gaudily dressed women lolled in their chairs besides cheap, loudly dressed men, both smoking cheap cigarettes.

Gertie's eyes roved about the place as her feet twinkled lightly to the music played by a negro orchestra of four pieces. A look of disappointment crossed her face in spite of what she had told Lilly, she had treasured a hope he would come.

It was after 11, their time would soon be up. Usually she was glad to go home, but tonight she wished they were to stay longer. Perhaps he had been to the theater with that swell friend of his and would come in later. Her eyes on the entrance, she saw him the moment he came in. Her cheeks burned, her eyes shone. He had come after all! Oh, the glory of it.

"There's your Tom!" Lilly whispered.

"Your Tom!" again. Was he her Tom? How could he be? An educated man rich enough to dress well, have a car, and buy a girl such a dinner. But even the thought could not stifle the song of joy that flooded her entire being. She danced as she never danced before—she danced for him.

"That Cummings girl is getting on fast! We'll have to look out or we'll lose her!" the burly proprietor, watching her said to his assistant. "Them Broadway guys will be after her. I guess I'll give her a raise and tie her up tight. I won't have to raise her much. She don't know how good she is. And I ain't tellin' her."

"She is great tonight! Pretty as a peach too. A stand-offish little piece!" "You let her alone, Jones!" She might get her back up and quit. "I ain't botherin' her none," Jones piggy eyes narrowed as he watched Gertie floating toward them. "That other one, her chum, she's a good one too. They is thick as thieves, and I guess if we tie up one we'll have to the other. I've a hunch the Cummings girl wouldn't sign unless the Arnold girl did. They live in the same house and come here together. I know because I got the address."

"Well, Arnold isn't half bad. She ain't as good as the Cummings girl is, but she's better than the average. We'll sign them both. A year git the papers ready, make 'em tight! That girl's a comer-on!" His eyes once more turned toward Gertie.

Tom had caught Gertie's eye, and as she passed his table he motioned to the empty seat beside him. She nodded showing she understood. The dance finished, she resumed her street clothes, very plain and shabby, yet somehow giving her a certain distinction among that gaudy crowd, and shyly slipped into the seat beside him. Lilly had joined a gay crowd at the further side of the room.

"I didn't think you was coming," naively Gertie said after he had ordered a lemonade for her. It was weak, made of extract, nothing real was served in that place. But it might have been ambrosia, so delicious did it seem to Gertie—because he had ordered it for her.

"Do you smoke?" he offered a hand some cigarette case, open.

"No, most the girls do, but ma don't like me to smoke. I promised her I wouldn't!"

"I think I shall like that mother of yours. I should like to know her. May I?"

"Why, yes." Then overcoming her embarrassment caused by the thought of the cheap, crowded tenement, Gertie remembered her manners and said quietly:

"Ma would like to know you too. She always wants to know who I go with." She blushed crimson. What had she said? That expression "go with" the girls. Lilly only used when speaking of their beaux.

"I shall come in Sunday afternoon if I may? And then if it is pleasant, we will take another ride out into the country."

Gertie could scarcely contain herself she was so delighted. She was to see him again, have a lovely long ride in the country just like the other one! What joy! But he was speaking again: "Perhaps you don't like the country?" she had noticed the note of anxiety in his voice.

"Oh, I love it! I ain't—haven't! ain't had been one of the words she had tried to break herself of using. Jennie had told her the teacher in her school wouldn't let any of the scholars use it. "Never seen the country much. When I was real little I went once for two weeks. The Fresh Air people sent me."

"You poor kid!" Tom Norris said under his breath. He thought of his high ranch, how he loved it, loved the open, and this girl, sweet, pretty, and innocent—he would swear it—had seen it only as the ward of some Fresh Air Fund.

"Then the country it is! I see your friend, Lilly, beckoning you. I have my car outside, I'll take you both home if you will let me."

Let him! But how nice of him to ask just as if she was a real swell, she thought, as they walked out, followed by Lilly.
